

Que News

Your Monthly Information Source for Everything AdQue.

Hello!

We are excited to announce that over 75 percent of AdQue users have switched to Express. If you have not switched yet, we would like to direct you to our latest online news article featuring nine reasons why you should (click here). You will have also noticed the small change to our homepage with a new "Manage My Sites" button, which now gives you the ability to tab through everything from the Control Panel to Express. All of the pages have kept their original functionality, and it is now easier to move between them. We hope this new change makes managing your sites even easier!

AdQue Upgrades :

50% More Bandwidth

The website will soon be running faster than ever when we add approximately 50 percent more bandwidth. With the switch to web-based site management, we wanted to make AdQue even faster and easier to use. And, now that over 75 percent of you have made the switch, we thought a little extra speed would be nice. In addition to the added bandwidth, we will also be upgrading our servers over the next few months. These and the bandwidth additions will happen on Sundays or in the late night hours to prevent any disruption to your AdQue System use. We would like to thank you for helping us grow. New additions to our server room would not be possible without you, and now, with more users than ever, we are glad to be able to make upgrades that will help improve AdQue's functionality.

SWiSH Tips & Tricks

For SWiSH users comfortable with script (and for those who can copy and paste): There is a great SWiSH site with filters (glow, bevel, shadow, etc.) you can add to text or objects.

You simply add an "onSelfEvent (load) {}" to your script and paste the effect of your choice in between the {}. Then replace the "pathToObject" with the name of your targeted text or object. Questions: email emw@adque.com

February's Generic Images . . .

Large photo's and bold colors give this month's generic images a sharp look and feel. Also released this month are new InfoQue backgrounds! Have something you would like to see?
